

Antenna Field Pattern

This chart below shows the HDB4X field pattern. A field pattern is a graphical representation of how wide of a direction this antenna picks up. The center of this chart is where the antenna would be facing one direction. As you'll notice, there is some reception off the back of this antenna.

